

DESCRIPTION OF DISPUTE PROCESS

This communication provides only general information regarding the LexisNexis® Risk Solutions (LexisNexis) dispute process.

Please note if you have disputed information in your LexisNexis file and your identity has been authenticated, you will receive a follow up letter with the specific results of your dispute once the reinvestigation is complete.

The LexisNexis dispute process includes engagement with the source of the data regarding the disputed item, a complete reinvestigation of the disputed item with the source and a notice containing the results and findings mailed to the consumer.

The following information is returned to the consumer at the conclusion of the reinvestigation.

- Reason for the consumer disputing the data
- Results of reinvestigation including:
  1. Identification of the source of the data including
    - The name of the data source
    - The address/location of the data source
    - The phone number of the data source
  2. Notice of the data being verified as accurate, notice of data correction, or notice of data being removed.
- A current copy of consumer's file with the most up to date data.

LexisNexis reviews all relevant information provided by a consumer regarding disputed items in their file. If the consumer provides source-based evidence proving their position, LexisNexis will include this information in its reinvestigation process.
